

ABSTRACT

A compound made of a hyaluronic acid having from 300 to 30,000 repeating units and a polyalkylene oxide derivative having a specific structure and a specific molecular weight, wherein the content of the polyalkylene oxide derivative is from 5 to 100 equivalents per 100 equivalents of the carboxyl group of the hyaluronic acid; and a hydrogel containing the subject compound.